

SUPER HERO ADVENTURE GENERATOR

INTRO

Using this booklet

Here's what you need to properly use this booklet and start slinging all sort of super hero adventures that feel at home on Savage Worlds:

The core rulebook (The Adventure edition is great!)

A deck of cards. You can get those and some poker chips real cheap via Amazon or a local retailer.

And if you can, the Super Powers Companion (any edition will do! Heard the new one is fantastic)

Almost every entry is based on a cliché, a recurring idea, a popular storyline, or flat out reference an important event on the largest super heroes multiverses, making it perfect for most campaigns using the genre for Savage Worlds.

Generating adventures:

To generate an adventure, it is as easy as drawing 3 cards and checking the tables in this booklet.

They are Goal, Obstacle, and Setback.

You can simply draw one card for each table, or draw 1, shuffle it back, then draw again for the next. This method expands the combinations you can get and is the recommended way of generating an adventure.

However, keep in mind these aren't hard rules or coded adventures. They are suggestions, and allusions and require some imagination to assemble. Thus using a generator for Super Heroes or Villains can come in handy, or even creating a 'rogue's gallery and some 'Background Super Heroes' before generating an adventure can help you quickly give shape to the results.

You can also use the 'bestiary' of the Super Powers companion to fill the gaps for villains in your 'rogue's gallery.

Adventure Example

The Gamemaster draws the following cards:

Goal – 8 of Hearts

Hearts – Under the cowl

Some hindrance from a member of the party rears its ugly head, or perhaps the motivation for being a hero is tested as things develop.

Siege: Only the heroes can stop the siege from happening to a place of importance. Tyrannic forces make their move, to conquer and divide. Can the heroes challenge their advance?

Obstacle – 9 of Diamonds

Diamonds – Tragedy without end

A terrible humanitarian or ecological crisis emerges! A volcano erupts, a public policy goes awry and persecutes minorities, a building is on fire, a large tsunami looms over the city, and anything else that requires the heroes to stop a terrible thing from happening.

Weird Science: A scientific experiment goes wrong! Maybe it created a monster? Caused a nature crisis? Or maybe the nature crisis BECOMES a monster?! All sorts of weird things will happen thanks to science going wild. And what is magic, if not science not fully understood?

Setback – 5 of Diamonds

Diamonds – The power of money...Unleashed!

There is an alternative to dealing with the setback. Pay up! Multiply the value 100$ x10. The figure card's value is 10. (500 monetary value)

Power Dampener: There is something in the air, or maybe it's a trap? Either way, the heroes powers are weakened, maybe even nullified! Will they overcome the odds? Reading the results, the generator is nudging the Game master to create an adventure that deals with one (or more!) characters' Hindrances. For this particular one, the Game Master decided to use the fact Jade, the Telekinetic Teen Hero is young and still lives with her parents as a point of conflict.

"What if the goal was to save Jade's parents?"

Then we add the "Siege" context:

"What if what motivates Jade and her supergroup to mess with this Siege is Jade's parents? It would help to make the situation feel more personal."

Next comes the obstacles:

"A humanitarian crisis that deals with Weird Science? How about a strange, giant monster made of debris and sewer refuse rises and begins trying to eat the building where Jade's parents live? Make it a large apartment so others are in danger too."

Then we move to setbacks!

"Power Dampeners, but that can be paid off. Hmm, maybe that building that private corps escorted the Heroes on our last section may have some super-powered dampening properties! And they are only allowed to leave if they pay a bounty, or fight their way out without their powers."

It ends up like this:

"The Heroes learn of a horrible monster created by an accident rampaging through the city, and it is fixated on eating a specific building! One of the Heroes, Jade, recognizes it is where her parents live. However, they are all inside a mercenary compound, being questioned and with their power dampened. One of the guards offers them a way out if they can pay his price. Will the heroes find a way to stop the horrible Sewer Monster and stop the destruction of the apartment complex?!"

Notice that the "Siege" part wasn't taken, as in the building is under siege by the weird science creature, sure, but the Gamemaster tweaked for the goal to be to stop the siege – And to do so is to stop the monster! So overcoming the obstacle would be the same to reach the goal.

See the results as inspiration and tie them to your ongoing campaign. Tweak results and make them talk to each other as part of a fluid idea rather than 3 individual and unrelated elements.

GOAL

The suit of the card determine how the heroes are attracted for the adventure and the value of the card decides the goal of said adventure.

Clubs – A day unlike any other: Adventure comes to the heroes when they least expect it!

Diamonds – Justice like lightning: The heroes get to pick and choose how to dish out some vigilante justice, investigating a past event or being pro active with their patrols seeking injustice wherever it lies.

Hearts – Under the cowl: Some hindrance from a member of the party rears its ugly head, or perhaps the motivation for being a Hero is tested as things develop.

Spades – Rogues gallery: A past (or new!) villain emerges, seeking to threat the city or the status quo of the party in some way shape or form, the Heroes must stop it. Or face the consequences!

Card	Result

3	Universal Cosmic Object: A powerful object of impossible power/invaluable price/incredible importance must be retrieved before a villain gets their hands on it. Or perhaps...They already have it in their possession!
4	With great power...: An important individual needs to be protected for they are being the target of unscrupulous rivals, vile villains, and all sorts of low lives. Be it a politician trying to wrestle control of the elites, an activist, or just a person that matters to someone in the party.
5	An epic tale of never-ending adventure: Rumors swirl around a specific area, an abandoned mine shaft, a secret underground base, the debris of an alien spacecraft...There is a disturbance in that area that must be investigated and dealt with before it's too late!
6	Justice for Hire: An incredible bounty has been put on a certain person of interest by the Interpol or a shadow society. Will the heroes collect said bounty? Or will they protect this person of import?
7	I need a hero!: Someone needs rescuing! Be it from an evil intergalactic tyrant...Or their own poor life choices!
8	Siege: Only the heroes can stop the siege from happening to a place of importance. Tyrannic forces make their move, to conquer and divide. Can the heroes challenge their advance?

10	Crime Busting: A gang, cartel, or group of criminals is terrorizing the city and only the Heroes can stop their reign of terror, seeing how the authorities seem to be colluding or even being defeated by said group.
Jack	Shadow War: A pocket dimension, or a black ops battlefield, has drawn the heroes in. They somehow see themselves as part of a large conflict, championing one cause – Or fighting for their lives.
Queen	Daring Debate: The heroes have the rare chance to change the mind of someone important. They must state their case in a high-stakes debate!
King	Cosmic Truths...Revealed!: A star has aligned, a god has emerged, a ritual has passed...It is within the grasp of the Heroes to learn one fundamental truth of the multiverse!
Ace	Birth of a superhero: A new hero emerges and somehow, they are battling a great foe! Only the heroes can save – or doom – this newcomer!
Black Joker	Puppet Master: From the shadows, a villain executes a ploy. Draw two more times, one for the 'distraction', the other for the true goal. Give clues and let the Heroes try to figure out their true objective...Or the villain prospers!
Red Joker	Uneasy Alliance: A villain or past enemy approaches the heroes, begging for their help! Draw a new card, ignoring the suit. That is the goal presented for the heroes. Will they team up? Or will they offer their foe it's just desserts?

OBSTACLE

The second card determines what or who opposes the heroes in achieving their Goal. The suit of the card determines the shape this upcoming crisis will take. It is up to you, Gamemaster, to evoke its manifestation as you interpret the results.

Clubs – Crisis: To achieve their goals, first the heroes must face a large scale action set piece! From thrilling chases, to entire armies getting in their way, make it as larger than life.

Diamonds – Tragedy without end: A terrible humanitarian or ecological crisis emerge! A volcano erupts, a public policy goes awry and persecutes minorities, a building is on fire, a large tsunami looms over the city, and anything else that requires the heroes to stop a terrible thing.

Hearts – Mask Off: Someone, or something, from the Heroes civil/private lives emerges. Either an important event on their life, or even a dangerous situation happening on their time off that targets the characters when they are most vulnerable.

Spades – Vile Villain: There is one figure that somehow, someway, knows the heroes goals and will do everything in their power to stop it. This antagonistic force will toss everything they have to cut the heroes from their objective.

Card	Result
2	Great Responsibility: A group of defenseless or vulnerable people somehow need to be reasoned with if the Goal is to be achieved.
3	Crime Kingpin: The criminal underworld itself is working to stop the Heroes. Or perhaps, a corporation or a 'legitimate' business hires muscles to keep the Heroes away from their objective.
4	Boisterous Bureaucracy: There are a lot of red tapes and the government to be dealt with if the heroes will get anywhere! Will they play along, or risk incurring the wrath of authorities?
5	Wrath of Nature: A natural disaster occurs at the worst time possible! Will the Heroes help those in need, or try to soldier their own beyond it to find their goals?
6	Injustice for hire: Someone has put on a bounty for the heroes! As they approach closer to their goal, they will be ambushed by mercenaries who carefully study their weaknesses. Can the heroes overcome the odds?
7	Hero Team-up: A different group of heroes stumbles into the party as they go forth to achieve the same (or close enough) goal of the heroes! Will they cooperate? Or will they explode into colorful action?
8	This...Monster!: A monster stands in the way! A terrible creature of immense power needs to be defeated or reasonable if the heroes wish to have any chance of conquering their goals.
9	Weird Science: A scientific experiment goes wrong! Maybe it created a monster? Caused a nature crisis? Or maybe the nature crisis BECOMES a monster?! All sorts of weird things will happen thanks to science going wild. And what is magic, if not science not fully understood?
10	Twisted Justice: A vigilante, or maybe even a group of them, decided to take justice with their own two hands. A violent, abhorrent deformed version of it, seeking to harm innocents. And it happens to go down just on the site or reach the heroes' goals!
Jack	Villain Gang: A group of super-villains decided to be proactive and chase down the heroes, using their numbers and combined powers and means to take out the heroes before they achieve their goal!
Queen	Top Secret: The local (or maybe international) government for one reason or another does not wish the goal to be achieved. So they activated their anti-hero measures to stop the heroes.
King	Cosmic Crisis: An angry god. A fundamental reality crisis. An alien invasion that seeks to protect the goal. A kirbyesque situation is about to go down and the heroes must face the fabric of reality itself to achieve their objective!
Ace	True believers: Faith is the true foe here. The true believers of a religion, a particular hero or even villain, will toss themselves into the heroes trying to stop them from achieving. They need to be convinced their cause isn't just or trample them with force.
Black Joker	Event Tie-in: The goal is even more elusive than it was first thought. Draw two times, both of these Obstacles will try to stop the heroes.
Red Joker	Unexpected Allies: Draw two cards. The first card is the obstacle. The second is what will help the heroes! (and yes if you draw the Black Joker, that means two helpful things).

SETBACK

The third and final card represents a complication, a twist in the story. The suit determines the origin of this setback, while the value identifies the specific problem.

Clubs – Impossibility: They often say heroes are those that make the impossible, possible. This Setback has been considered to be just that, and any roll done to try to overcome this Setback is done with a -2.

Diamonds – The power of money...Unleashed!: There is an alternative to dealing with the setback. Pay up! Multiply the value 100$ x10. The figure cards value is 10.

Hearts – From the heart: Tie the setback to the hindrances the Heroes have sparked by someone or something important to them, like friendly NPCs, loved ones, you know the drill. Melodrama is key.

Spades – Villain Ploy: A supervillain has prepared this setback to slow, perturb, or even flat out stop and defeat the party! Its presence will be known through mooks, his signature servants, or maybe even their direct approach to the situation!

Card	Result
2	Phony Faker: A member of the group has been impersonated! This 'faker' might be someone in disguise or an actual clone of the character. And not only are they servicing their designs that go against what the original character is, but they will also try to stop the Heroes from achieving their goals.
3	Communication Breakdown: As the heroes approach peril, they get cut off from society and communication, be it because where there are going there is no signal, or everyone is busy and in trouble. There is no backup, no help coming.
4	Journey into the Unknown: Whatever the heroes must do for their objective, they must travel to a very distant or strange place. Alternate realities, pocket dimensions, go back in time, reach a secretive, virgin jungle, as long as it is uncommon and hard to reach, it works.
5	Power Dampener: There is something in the air, or maybe it's a trap? Either way, the heroes powers are weakened, maybe even nullified! Will they overcome the odds?
6	Injustice for hire: Someone has put on a bounty for the heroes! As they approach closer to their goal, they will be ambushed by mercenaries who carefully study their weaknesses. Can the heroes overcome the odds?
7	By the book: The cameras are upon the heroes! Or maybe it's just the authorities worried about the order. Either way, the better reach their objective by the good, not breaking any laws or killing anyone. Else, there will be...Consequences.
8	It's about time: In 2d4 days, the Goal will be unreachable for one reason or another. Better get to it!
9	Humanitarian Crisis: Between the goal, there lies a humanitarian crisis tied to it. Dealing with it will be paramount, a moral dilemma tied to the hero's success.
10	Virulent Spread: The region where the goal is located is corrupted. A thick fog, a strange miasma, and a horrible disease is spreading. Modern medicine can help, but operating there incurs. Every day in there, the heroes must pass a Vigor check, or they receive 1 level of Fatigue.
Jack	Not an imaginary story!: Something shocking is revealed about something or someone tied to the campaign or adventure! And consequences will never be the same.
Queen	Big Time: A superhero big shot or a person of import insists on accompanying or dabbling with the hero's goals! Yet they seem to have their agenda...
King	Betrayal: An ally betrays the heroes as they make their way to the goal! Was there malice involved, or were they blackmailed?!
Ace	Death in the family: One character that interacted with the Heroes dies. And their death may be related to the goal or even the obstacle for this adventure!
Black Joker	And things have never been deadlier: Things are getting out of control here! Draw two cards.
Red Joker	Axis Reversal: Believing to be on the right or justified, the Heroes are doing something horrible. And a different group of heroes will try to stop them, one way or another!
